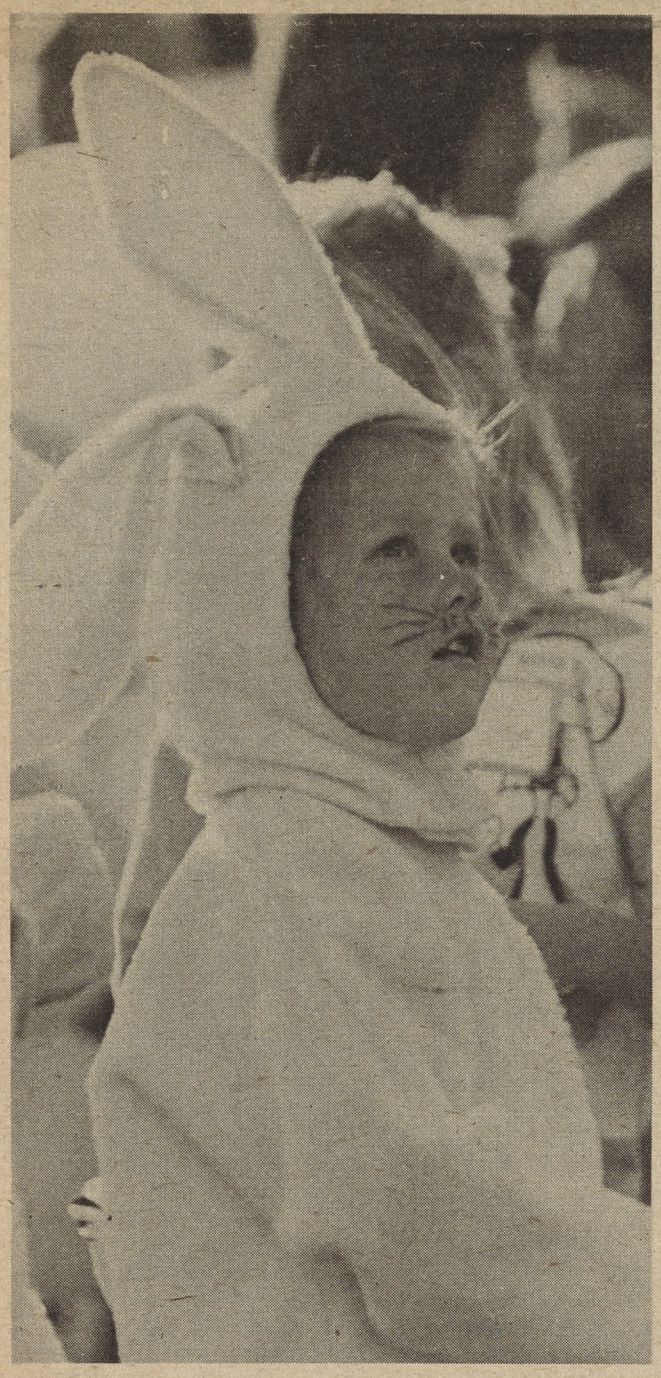
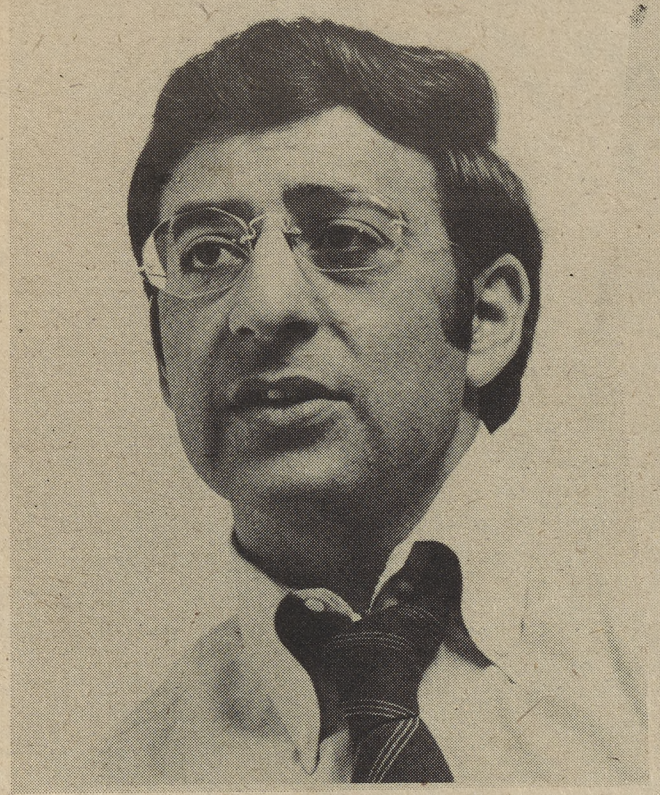
Halloween Scenes

HALLOWEEN TRADITIONALLY sparks a flurry of activity in Valley schools. Last week Carmelo's annual Halloween parade featured children and teachers in costume marching to the tune of the Carmel High School band up to Beverly Manor. There the children and band entertained residents and returned to the school. All Saints' school held its annual costume parade and carnival Sunday. The day's activities included a pumpkin carving contest, luncheon and pinatas for the children.





VALLEYITE LEON PANETTA was successful in his bid for the 16th Congressional district. He defeated Republican incumbent Burt Talcott in last Tuesday's election.

Valley Landmarks Old and New

MRS. R. W. (MARGARET) ROBERTS and Mrs. K.R. (Constance) Smith of the Monterey Peninsula Watercolor Society stand in front of the society's group exhibit at Monterey Savings and Loan in Carmel Valley. The exhibit opened Tuesday and will run through Dec. The entire exhibit consists of paintings of Carmel Valley landmarks. Mrs. Smith credits Ron Hunter of Monterey Savings with the inspiration for the exhibit which marks the third time in two years an exhibit focusing on Valley landmarks has been held.

"Carmel Valley Landmarks — Old and New" is the title of the exhibit now showing at the Monterey Savings and Loan, Mid-Valley Branch.

The exhibit consists of 20 water colors depicting such Valley sites as the old Indian tree which is now just a weathered stump beside Carmel Valley Road to the recently created Garland Ranch Park.

Berwick Barn, the Thunderbird Bookstore and Quail Lodge are a few of the buildings shown in the exhibit paintings. A brief description of each watercolor giving some of the historical data on each site is available at the exhibit.

The exhibitors point out that Carmel Valley has many additional landmarks worthy of notation in such an exhibit but space limited them to these selections. This is the third showing of Valley landmarks and there are plans to continue the showings.

In addition to thanking the land owners for their help in preparing the historical data on each of the paintings, the exhibitors acknowledge the help of Ronald Hunter, Doyt Early, and Paul Porter. They give special acknowledgement to John Jernigan who researched the history of the Valley.

The exhibit may be viewed through Dec. 3 at the Mid-Valley Monterey Savings and Loan Mondays through Thursday nine a.m. until four p.m. and on Fridays through six p.m.

SPCA guidelines needed

Dear Sir:

I found the Oct. 21 "Feedbag" quite startling. I gather that there is no State department or agency which regulates county humane societies, or Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (SPCA), that there are no statewide standards, or obectives laid down, no criteria for judging the quality of the service provided by a county SPCA.

If it is true that there are no "state standards" regulating county SPCA's, as Ted Lake, of the Monterey Employees Association, told the author of "Feedbag", it seems pointless to criticize the manner in which the SPCA is doing its job. However, since nearly $250,000 of our tax funds are being used by the SPCA the public is entitled to a complete picture.

It would seem that we should contact our state representatives, to have some sort of state agency set up which would be responsible for county humane work.

I know, from personal experience, that the county pound, which handled animal problems before the new SPCA contract, was grossly inadequate; I now hear, from knowledgeable people, that the SPCA is doing a much better job — and this, the welfare of the animals, is, after all, the important thing.

Students to write more

Students at Carmel High and Middle School can expect an increased writing load in their English classes as a result of action taken by the school board Wednesday.

A language arts reader project designed to "increase the writing proficiency" of students in grades 6-12 was funded to the tune of $4,350. Qualified individuals will be hired by the district to assist English teachers with marking papers for spelling, grammar, punctuation and sentence construction errors. The program's object is to increase the quantity and quality of writing done by students.

The project proposal was developed by an ad hoc committee comprised of Marilyn Anderson, Bob Walch, Vance Frasier, Bob Hufford, Dan Stevenson and Bob Whitehead. Whitehead estimated that each student would have, on the average, an additional 12 pages of writing work assigned.

The project will involve roughly 15 teachers and 1,450 students in language arts instruction. The readers will receive instruction in a uniform marking system developed by faculty members. Records of the type and frequency of errors will be kept. The project was designed to aid teachers with papers above the current writing load expectation.

School board member Elizabeth Bell asked Whitehead what the current writing load expectation is and Whitehead replied, "We don't know. That's our next project." He explained that teachers currently determine writing loads for individual classes and there is no standardized expectation. The program may be extended to include lower grade levels and increased funding in the future if it is successful.

In other action the board:

— adopted a resolution calling for a board election in March 1977 to fill the expiring terms of Frances Gaver and James Miller.

— approved the participation of Carmel High School's band in the Sixth Annual Invitational Mexican Band Festival in Mexico City in May 1977. The band will attempt to raise funds to cover the cost per student of $300.

— heard as an information item results of the representational election for district employes held Oct. 19. The Association of Carmel Teachers received 98 votes, American Federation of Teachers 42 votes and five votes were cast for no representative.

— heard as an information item a request to adopt selected reading texts and related materials for grades K-8. The District Reading Committee presented samples of the texts selected.

— heard as an information item a request by the District Advisory Committee for Title I and ECE programs that certain contract teachers in the programs be afforded retroactive probationary status.

— officially acknowledged receipt of a letter from E.F. Easterbrook, a representative of the Carmel Citizens Committee.

CHS Vollyball team has 3-2 tally

By RHONDA SALYER

The Carmel High Varsity Volleyball team is having a good season this year with a record of six wins and three losses so far.

At the halfway point of Carmel's schedule, the Varsity team was in third place, with Monterey in first and Hollister in second. Since then Carmel has won two matches and lost one.

The Carmel Varsity team consists of seven players. They are Amy Erickson, Kay Amemiya, Tammy Williams, Lisa Crisan, Chena D'Andrea, Belle Tang and Jill Richette.

The Junior Varsity has had a terrific season with a record of 9-0. The Carmel JV team is in first place in their league while Monterey, Hollister and Santa Catalina are all tied for second.

THROWING A PASS is Carmel High School quarterback Steve Talley.

The Pebble Beach Equestrian Center announces the beginning of a new horse season. They offer a variety of classes, trail rides, and events for all types of riders.

Once a month on Sundays there is a schooling show. This allows riders of all ages and abilities to experience the fun of competing and schooling. The dates of the schooling shows are Nov. 7, Dec. 12, Jan. 9, Feb. 6, March 20, April 3, June 26 and July 10.

There is also a One-Day event once a month. Here a horse and rider are tested in three phases: dressage (schooling of the horse); cross-country (about two miles over obstacles of moderate size), and stadium jumping. There are two divisions pre-training and training of which jumps are two feet nine inches and 3 feet. The dates of the One-Day events are,Nov. 6, Dec. 11, Jan. 8, Feb. 5, March 19, April 2, May 28, June 25 and July 22.

Everyday at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m., escorted trail rides through 30 miles of trails are available. This ride affords beach and forest views.

The Center also offers group and private lessons. Classes are in session daily all year long for different abilities and all ages. There are ten week courses or intensive 10 day courses in equitation, jumping, vaulting, and longing. For those who are interested in a total daily program, boarding and day camps are offered. The dates of the camps are Dec. 26-Jan. 3, July 3-July 23, July 24-Aug. 12.

For more information contact the Pebble Beach Equestrian Center, 624-2756.

Cypress ends successful season

The Cypress Swim Club, winding up its 1976 competitive season this past weekend at Walnut Creek, won two more medals and two more ribbons to end the most successful year in the history of the synchronized swimming club.

Led by Pavia Wald and Robin Currier, who won third-place bronze medals in the 13-14 and 15-17 age group open competition, Cypress ribbons were also taken by Mary Harris, fifth in the 13-14 Intermediate category, and by Tone Grinde, seventh in the 10-and-Under Novice competition. Besides Tone, all of the Cypress 10-and-Unders placed in the top 10 in their age group, with Holly Pease taking eighth and Lisa Friedman ninth.

In the 13-14 Intermediates, Kerry Wald missed the seventh-place ribbon by eight one-thousandths of a point, placing eighth, while teammates Suzy Hermanson, Eunice LaMica, and Stacey Hicks, about a half-point behind, placed 11th, 15th and 17th respectively. In the 15-17 Intermediates, Robin Pease placed 15th.

In Synchronized Swimming Figures Competition, swimmers graduate from the Novice category to Intermediate, and from Intermediate to Open, by placing in the top three in each event in their age group. as they move upward through the age groups, 10-and-Under, 11-12, 13-14, 15-16, and 17-18.

Besides the Cypress 10-and-Unders entered in Novice competition, other Cypress placements were: (11-12) Sarah Hicks, 12th; Lisa Husby, 19th; Adrienne Wald, 20th; Brenda LaMica, 34th; and Jennie Powell, 39th; (13-14) Cynthia Bottero, 17th; and Anne Mulvihill, 27th.

There were 259 swimmers from eight northern California clubs entered in this last meet of the 1976 competitive season for the Pacific AAU. The Cypress Swim Club will now begin a period of conditioning and retraining for next year's competitive season. Any Peninsula swimmers between the ages of 8 and 16 who are interested in joining the club's year-around program of AAU competitive synchronized swimming may call Mrs. Sherwin Friedman at 649-0519 or Mrs. Douglas Pease at 659-4720 for further information.

EARLY BIRDS will find a large selection of food and gifts at the CV Community Chapel Holiday Bazaar on Saturday. Among the handcrafted wares will be felt appliqued table runners, felt decorated Cat Wine bottle covers — or door stops — Christmas tree ball ornaments and medallion tree ornaments.

Holiday bazaar Saturday

Booths a-glitter with distinctive holiday decorations made by gifted members and friends of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild; delicious baked goods and casseroles; a treasure trove of "white elephants and jewelry"; books and plants await those attending the HOLIDAY BAZAAR Saturday from 10-3 in the Fellowship Hall.

In addition to a vividly handsome handmade stole from Mexico, there will be unique creations by Anne Werdelman; lovely baby jackets and booties knitted by Almira Davis; and a number of small framed hand-painted oils showing Peninsula scenes by Nellie Mirani.

Youngsters are invited to try their luck at the "Magic Fish Pond" while Mom shope and that delectable cranberry-glazed chicken luncheon will be served between 11:30 and 1:30 p.m.

Remember the date — THIS Saturday on Village Drive.

Flea market

There is still time to reserve space at the "INDIAN SUMMER MARKET PLACE" from 9-4 in the Carmel High School parking lot this Sunday, Nov. 7.

Flea market booths of rummage, plants, antiques, crafts etc. by businesses, clubs, and individuals are welcomed by the sponsoring Carmel High School Band who will entertain during the afternoon. The Band will also open a snack booth and a book stall.

Proceeds from the event will go toward the Bands' trip to Mexico where, with director Henry Avila, they have been invited by the Mexican Government to participate in the Sixth Annual Invitational Mexican Band Festival to be held in May in Mexico City.

To rent-a-stall, please phone co-chairmen, Marge Wenzlik, 624-6794 or Mildred Hattan, 659-2468.

A rain-date for the event has been set as November 14, same time, same place!

Halloween party at CVCYC

"The Witch Patrol" dipped their brooms in approval as they flew over the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center's Halloween Party on Sunday night.

Costumed judges, Fr. John McSweeney, Lee Mink, and Ed Foote were assigned the difficult task of selecting thirty winners from the outstanding costumes worn by the 175 adults and children in attendance.

The "Pumpkin Carving" prizes were awarded to: Heather Stratton, Christine Lee, Angela Acuna, and Sandra Lee. Sandra won the Grand Prize for "Peter Pumpkin's House" complete with curtains at the windows and a tiny garden.

Master of ceremonies Ray Lucido introduced Joe Morgan, K-DON disc jockey, who furnished musical entertainment throughout the evening; and the Carmel Valley Kiwanis sponsored magic show, "The Magic of Lorma."

Party chairman, Augie Acuna, and Col. (USA ret.) Ed Foote, "The Great Pumpkin," joined fellow CVCYC Board members in expressing their sincere appreciation to the following who contributed prizes and refreshments; Bank of America, Carmel Valley, The General Store, McDonalds, Longs Seaside Drugstore, Rio Road Safeways, Plaza Linda, the Oak Building, Pat's Hair Fashions, Monterey Savings & Loan — Mid Valley, Crocker Bank — Mid Valley, and Safeways — Mid Valley.

FFA Banquet

The Carmel Chapter of Future Farmers of America held their Initiation Banquet and Installation of officers Friday evening at the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center.

Laura Sherman, chairman of the affair and her co-chairman, Kathy Collins had decorated the room and tables with blue and gold streamers which were admired by the 62 members and guests in attendance.

Eleven members participated in the initiation ritual of the "Green Hand"; which was also extended to two honorary members, Carmel High School principal, Dan Stevenson, and head of the R.O.P. department, Chuck Phillips. Six members were admitted to the next step of FFA, the California Chapter Farmers whose qualifications include earning $50 through FFA projects.

During the evening awards were presented to Dee Dee Sherman and Marit Arana who placed first and second in high points in the Best Informed Chapter competition.

The new slate of officers introduced by outgoing president, Mary Ingram were: Alex Rembert, president; Bill Wilson, vice president; Mary Ingram, secretary; Laura Sherman, treasurer; Donna McDonald, reporter; and Andy Griffin, Sentiniel.

Dessert following the potluck dinner was a large cake honoring the seventeenth birthdays of the Wilson twins, Laura and Bill.

Among the special guests were Carmel High's FFA advisor, Richard Willard and Mrs. Willard.

Recycle aluminum cans

"An old oak leaf cluster" to Valley-ites who remember to save their aluminum cans for the youth projects such as Sunday's Halloween party at the Carmel Valley Community Youth Center.

Donations recently hauled by the CVCYC Building and Grounds chairman, Col. (USA ret.) Ed Foote totaled $21.

Residents are asked to leave their contributions in the large packing crates on the Carmel Valley Road side of the Center.

St. Dunstan's Halloween benefit

Halloween place mats, tallies, candies and nut cups gave the rooms at the Garzas Canyon home of Mrs. Richard Dick a festive air for the 44 guests who attended the St. Dunstan's bridge and canasta benefit. Co-hostesses Marie Rich and Kathryn Walker served pumpkin pie as the timely holiday dessert.

Tiny real pumpkins with hats and faces nestled in autumn leaves were the cunning centerpieces created by Kathryn and awarded as take-home table prizes to: Irene Cushman, Dorothy Chappell, Sandy Cisneros, Carlyle Mothersill, Mike Cecka, Barbara Robbins, Jeanette Townsend, Bertha Starkweather, Ruth Wade, Esther Whitcomb, and Mildred Blacow.

The prizes for high in bridge were won by Sandy Cisneros, 1st, Carlyle Mothersill, 2nd; and for canasta, Esther Whitcomb, 1st and Vera Stokes, 2nd.

With the ladies of St. Dunstan's busy planning their booth for the Holiday Fair at the La Playa, this was the last party for 1976. The next party will be at Kathryn Walker's home, the last Wednesday of January in 1977.

"Time For Bulbs" is the topic selected by Elsa Uppman Knoll who will appear as guest speaker at the Nov. 11 meeting of the Carmel Valley Garden Association. The Carmel Highlands resident is former garden editor of Sunset Magazine who presently serves as an editorial consultant to that publication.

The public is always cordially invited to attend the Association's informative meetings and to remain for the refreshment social hour following, in the Tularcitos multipurpose room, 8:00 p.m. on Nov. 11.

CV Community Chapel Guild

A real treat is in store for members of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel Guild on Wednesday, Nov. 10 when they will have an opportunity to hear Dr. Paul R. Woudenberg, pastor of the church of the Wayfarer in Carmel speak about Dr. Albert Schweitzer. The Guild cordially invites both men and women of Carmel Valley to come and enjoy this special occasion.

Dr. Woudenberg, a graduate of the Boston University School of Theology, where he also earned his doctorate, is well qualified to give a biographical sketch of Dr. Schweitzer, since the discourse for his doctorate was an in-depth study of the life and work of this great man. He met Dr. Schweitzer on two occasions in 1959 and 1962, when he had the privilege of meeting him in Africa and observing him at work in his hospital.

Fellowship Hall on Village Drive is the meeting place for the Guild at 12:15, when dessert will be served preceding the meeting by Mrs. S.N. Trevino, chairman and her committee members, Mrs. Edmund Capen and Mrs. Robert Arnal.

PARTICIPANTS IN THE impressive service assisted by acolytes Rene Saunders (with rabbit) and Andrew White ranged from this moppett's small white rat ....

Blessing of the animals

...to this handsome saddle horse receiving the attention of Rev. Brock, and acolytes Andrew White and Maria Saunders.

A MORE PERFECT setting would be hard to find for the St. Francis Blessing of the Animals than St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church nestled in picturesque Robinson Canyon, where Rev. James Brock blessed an endless procession of furry and feathered members belonging to Parish households.

Guys and Dolls continues

"Guys and Dolls" continues at the Patty Wester Dance Studio on Pilot Road in the Village, each Friday, Saturday and Sunday through Nov. 21. Curtain is 8:30 and tickets (at $4) may be purchased at the door.

All proceeds from the production will be used for the Jamesburg school and community center. Last year's production earned enough money for a down payment on some property and the players (half Jamesburg residents, half Villagers) hope to earn enough to make the second installment this year.

"Our singing and dancing are good," says director-cast member Linda Prejean, "but I think our best offering is our high energy. It's infectious. Audiences leave the performance happy, she says. "It's obvious we're having a good time and the energy generated from that comes across on the stage," says Prejean.

Cast members, listed by Prejean, include her husband John, Anne Trivette, Greg Sherman, Sue Putnam, Nancy Cannon, Michael Halton, Paul D'Razzio, Carl Olson, Janine Sclawy, Raymond O'Hallaran, Leslie Wallace and son Seth, Carol Ortman, Peggy Sanders, Debbie Rsenick, Lillie Katler, Trules Dakka, Lynn Campbell, Barri Totler, Tom Hughes, Tom Clark, Stan Semmel, Kent Henicks, John Littlewood, John Farrington, Ed Armstrong, Ray Lindsey, Shelly Shachter and Clancy Van Horn.

Sets are by Tom Livsey. Providing music for the production are Sue Marcott on piano, Ray Fabrizio on the saxophone and Lynn Jones on flute.

"Len Dixon In Concert" — Saturday, November 27 at the Holiday Inn, Carmel. That might just be the top entertainment listing for the Peninsula this month. If you're a jazz buff and have caught Len's tasteful and pointed vocal styles at the Captain's Cove on Cannery Row, you already know what is in store for you musically. But just to add a little spice to the action, Len is throwing in eight to ten pieces including a four piece rhythm unit, a string synthesizer and three horns.

Meanwhile, Len is preparing for the late month bash via the Captain's Cove spotlight Wednesday through Saturday evenings. Dixon is ably backed by Woody and Bob Barr. Woody plays lead guitar and is the arranger for both the Cove and upcoming Holiday Inn gigs. He and percussionist Sal Murullo have recorded for 20th Century Fox under the name of Redwood City and had a local hit with their first 45 "Winter's Night." Woody plays an intricate yet short jazz line to parallel Len's low key almost story-telling style. Bob Barr, who has also played lead guitar for Len at the Captain's Cove, does a fine job on bass complimenting the Dixon lyric movement and, at times, plays a few tricks such as synthesizing the sound of a violin by first hitting the note and then turning the volume up.

You can find yourself singing along with Len as he performs "The Candyman," or laughing as he slyly plays with the lyrics of "I Found Someone Of My Own." But perhaps the best vehicle to express Len's vocal abilities is his tribute to Cole Porter where he makes standards such as "Anything Goes," "I Get a Kick Out Of You," and "Love for Sale," his own.

It should be a fine post-Thanksgiving evening at the Holiday Inn, Carmel. Tickets are now available at $5 per person by phoning 624-7016. It's a coat and tie affair with a cocktail hour starting at 7:30 and the two hour show getting underway at 8:30. Table seating should insure maximum comfort for the festivities. We'll pass on more information to you as the weekend draws closer.

Speaking of jazz, trombonist and trumpet player Ashley Hollis Alexander, Jr. will perform with the Monterey Peninsula College Jazz Ensemble next Thursday evening at 8 in the College Theatre.

Alexander has played at the Monterey Jazz Festival and currently teaches music theory at Cal State Fullerton. He's played with Stan Kenton and Teddy Phillips and has done a multitude of session work.

The Peninsula supported Bob Dorough's October visit to the Buckeye. Now let's get together and give Mr. Alexander the proper welcome.

Suggestion of the week: catch AAAHS at the King's Cross Station for a unique evening of folk and classical selections with instrumentation such as dulcimer, mandolin and celestaphone lending support to the standard guitar and keyboard lines.

Jana Heller's songs and vocals are biting and entertaining. George Keller is a talented musician who plays any of four instruments at a moment's notice and bassist Fred Hamnon is a jazz influenced artist who tastefully adds musical coloring to every selection.

By the way, practically all their material is original. No banal twenty minute tribute to John Denver or Joan Baez with these folks. Catch them Wednesday through Saturday through November at the King's Cross in Pacific Grove.

"Guys and Dolls"

A worthwhile evening's entertainment

By JEFF HUDELSON

The Jamesburg Players are currently giving a lively, entertaining production of "Guys and Dolls." Although the performance is without question an amateur effort, the production is delightful.

Producer-directors Linda and John Prejean have again come up with a successful and worthwhile evening's entertainment.

While not everything runs as smoothly as it might with a more experienced group, the energy and enthusiasm of The Jamesburg Players is equal to that of their "Oklahoma," produced last year.

Also, there is an obvious improvement in the performing skills of many of the players; and the Prejeans' direction is much more imaginative.

The set, designed by Tom Livesev and Don Eastman, is attractive, imaginative, and functional; and the set changes are handled with style. The lighting scheme of Jim McNeely and Livesev compliments the production as well.

"Guys and Dolls" is, of course, created out of the Damon Runyon stories of the gambling "characters" of old New York. This "Musical Fable of Broadway" by Jo Swerling and Abe Burrows features marvelous music and lyrics by Frank Loesser.

This music is very well played by pianist Sue Marcott (who becomes a "personality" in the Hot Box scenes), Buddy Jones on bass, Ray Fabrizio on sax, and flautist Lynn Jones.

But the show really belongs to the wide assortment of "characters" who inhabit the stage. They run the gamut from Ray Lindsay's delightful Drunk to Sue Putnam's gullible Mission General.

But not all of the Save A Soul Mission personnel are gullible. Ed Armstrong's Arvide threatens to blackmail John Prejean's fine Sky Masterson if Sky doesn't deliver on his marker for "one dozen assorted sinners."

Armstrong's "More I Cannot Wish You" is one of the nicest numbers in the show; it is very touching and received as much applause as the delightful "Take Back Your Mink," a "strip" number which is very well done.

Two minor romances, and one overriding one, intertwine throughout the play's action. besides the romance of Sky Masterson and Sarah "I'm a mission doll" Brown (played by Anne Trivette), there is that of Adelaide (Linda Prejean, who has the show's best voice) and Nathan Detroit (humorously played by Dr. Van Horn).

But the show's great love interest is that of the "Guys" for "action" — gambling, particularly dice. Even the girls come to realize that they'll have to play second fiddle to "Lady Luck".

Nathan's assistants Nicely-Nicely and Benny are both well and stylishly played by Michael Halton and Paul D'Orazio respectively. Their antics do a great deal to establish the environment of "Guys and Dolls," in fact they sing the leads in the title song.

Other denizens of "The Oldest Established, Permanent Floating Crap Game in New York" include Carl "Harry the Horse" Olsen, Tom "Society Max" Clarke, and Shelly "Big Jule" Schachter, as well as Messrs. Hughes, Hendricks, Wallace, Braathen, Littlewood, and Farrington. The show's "heavy" is, naturally, a copper, played by Gerg Scherman.

At the Hot Box, Stan Semmel makes the most out of his role as the M.C. and Raymond O'Halloran is the waiter. However, the big attraction of the Hot Box is the attractive Hot Box girls. The lovely ladies Lynn Cambell, Carol Hyatt, Leslie Wallace, Bari Tolliver, Peggy Sanders, Debbie Resnick, and Lilli Kotler, along with Adelaide, steal our hearts.

The costumes of Veronica Lindsay, Susan Wagner, and Barbara Farrington are delightful. Ranging from the sedate mission uniforms of Janeen Sclawy and Nancy Cannon to the flashy pinstripes of the "guys" to the fetching production outfits of the "dolls", the costuming is excellent. My only objection was to the outfits in the Havana night club which seemed a bit out of period.

But mistakes are a part of theatrical productions, and while the Jamesburg Players make a few, they do not detract from the charm of the production. Besides, "Guys and Dolls" is being used to raise funds for the much needed schoolhouse in upper Carmel Valley and certainly deserves your support.

The show is being staged in the Wester Dance Studio on Pilot Road in Carmel Valley Village. Everyone connected with this production (which plays Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights at 8:30 through November 21) can be proud of what has been accomplished. For them, "Luck is a Lady" every night.

Next symphony concert Nov. 21-23

The Monterey County Symphony Orchestra directed by Haymo Taeuber, will perform the second concert of the 1976-77 season at King Hall, Naval Postgraduate School, Monterey, Sunday Nov. 21, at Sunset Auditorium, Carmel, Monday, Nov. 22, and at Sherwood Hall, Salinas Community Center, Tuesday, Nov. 23. All concerts are at 8:00 p.m.

Taeuber has chosen two works, Mozart's Symphony No. 40 in G Minor, which is familiar to most listeners because of the popularized version of the first movement, and "Das Lied von der Erde" (The Song of the Earth) by Gustav Mahler, which features as soloists, Corinne Curry, Mezzo Soprano and Stephen Janzen, Tenor.

The Mahler work, taken from classic Chinese Poems by Li Tai-Po and Chang-Tsi, expresses Mahler's own, deeply personal experience. Unfortunately, he did not live to hear the first performance of the work conducted by Bruno Walter in Munich on Nov. 20, 1911, six months after Mahler's death.

The poems were translated into German by Hans Bethge and include "Das Trinklied vom Jammer der Erde" (Drinking Song of the Sorrow of the Earth), "Der Einsame in Herbst" (The Solitary One in Autumn), "Von der Jugend" (Of Youth), "Von der Schonheit" (Of Beauty), "Der Trunkene im Fruehling" (The Drunkard in Springtime), and "Der Abschied" (The Farewell).

A BENEFIT CONCERT sponsored by Old Carmel to raise funds for renovation of Sunset Center's north field for baseball use netted approximately $600 Sunday. Held at the Middle School field, the concert featured four area bands during a five hour span. Members of California, a local rock band, are shown above. An Old Carmel spokesman said there were no immediate plans for future benefits.

PINATAS were part of the fun at All Saints' school annual Halloween festivities Sunday.

A noted psychologist reports some success in his campaign to teach parents not to spank children. "Spanking children teaches the human being at an impressionable age that violence is okay," he says. Studies repeatedly show that spanked children tend to grow towards lives of casual violence; further, that parents who spank the most were themselves the most spanked children a generation earlier.

Likewise noted western trainer Dave Jones urges horseowners not to whip horses. "Quirts, bull whips, and such have no place in my barn," he says. "They make a horse fear man, but do nothing to gentle him."

Yet, walk into any tack store and what do you see? Rows and rows of whips, crops, quirts, romals and bats. They come in all sizes and a bewildering variety of styles. Different strokes for different folks.

The longest of the whips is the longe whip. Of all the whips this is the one least likely to be used to hurt a horse. If you hurt a horse with a longe whip it's unlikely that he'll lunge properly for you after that. The longe whip is really an extension of the trainer's arm... it reaches out to just touch the horse. It has to touch the horse in just the right place and at just the right split second or it won't have the desired effect.

For instance, if the longe whip can just touch the inner hind fetlock just as the hoof leaves the ground, the horse will take a longer stride with that foot, carrying it further through the air before he sets it down. If the trainer had touched that inner hind fetlock a second earlier while it was still weight bearing, the horse would just have snatched his hoof off the ground sooner and taken a shorter step with it.

Longe whips are usually five feet long with a six foot lash. They are properly weighted so that a swift wrist movement puts the tiny lash on the end of the regular lash just where and when the trainer wants it with sufficient force. They cannot be homemade from a stick with rope tied to it.

A buggy whip has a five foot stock like a longe whip but with only six inches or so of lash. It is just right for signaling a harness horse, particularly if he wears blinders. We do not signal harness horses by shaking the reins — it hurts their mouths and confuses the blindered horse. Buggy whips are no good as longe whips since there is no long lash with which to touch the horse. Horses are not supposed to longe when short whips are waved at them. If they do it's because they've actually been hit with the short whip. When they do longe it's with a stiff "don't hit me" attitude. Counterproductive. Tch. Tch. Tch. And without the long arm of the trainer, to touch the horse just... there... just now! there's no way to unstiff the horse who's scared of the whip.

Going down the line, the next sort of long whip is the gaited horse whip and the dressage whip. The dressage whip is counterweighted with a knob on the fat end. A slight hand movement sends the working end through quite a large arc and just as importantly brings it back again. Many dressage trainers work with two whips — one in each hand. With a twitch of their little finger they can touch the horse's behind. In dressage, as in all serious horsemanship, the horse's behind is everything. A touch of the long whip gets it tucked under, moves it over, picks it up, slows it down. It's all in the timing and with the counterweight the dressage whip gives almost instantaneous response. The gaited horse whip of the same length has no counterweight. Timing is not so tricky. It is used to increase the horse's animation. Gaited riders have been known to hit their horses. They like a thin, cutty whip.

Next is the English riding crop, a shorter whip with a stiffened core for most of its length. It comes with a loop for hanging it up in the barn. It's bad form and somewhat dangerous to put the loop around your wrist while riding. The riding crop is held vertically in one of the rein hands and snapped in and out on the horses shoulder. Some crops have a loop of leather at the bottom to make a popping noise but this is rarely big enough to be sufficient. The meaner ones have a short lash at the bottom. The hunting crop has a hook at the handle end for closing gates. Often it is fitted with a removable lash for cracking at hounds. Yoicks!

The western riding crop is almost the same length as the English riding crop but has a shorter stiffened core or none at all. The meanest are the skinniest and the most limp. A feathered bat is a fat stiff crop with leather fringes all up and down which soften the blows and can be used to "fan" a horse. Gymkhana riders like it. Trial riders like a romal which is a quirt-like extension that snaps onto their short closed bridle reins. It has knots braided into it for wieght to swing against the horse's rear or shoulders.

Most popular western riding whip of all is simply the rein ends. Pull the reins tight and lay back and forth with the leather ends. Since western reins are generally long and skinny, this does stir up a horse. However, the problem with all western quirts is most magnified here. That is: you have to shift your weight to use them. Without the stiff core, it takes arm and shoulder action to swing them. There's no niceties about what they do nor when. Just wham and go. But when the horse goes, the rider is apt to be left behind and half turned around. So he hangs on the reins. In the hands of a Sunday cowboy, western crops, quirts, and rein-ends make high headed horses.

Some riders have found that a popper works just as well to make the western horse go. The popper is a doubled piece of latigo leather. It's wide enough that its surface area doesn't sting the horse much. The slap of leather on horseflesh and the slap of leather on leather (the pop effect) makes the horse go.

Dave Jones reports that he never had a colt become resentful from being corrected with a popper but he has seen horses that stored up hatred for a man from being whipped. You can't make a horse good except by being good with it. Mean methods make mean horses.

I suppose the same thing applies to children.

Cassie Christ of Pebble Beach and Linda Colohan of Carmel Valley, both dental assisting students at MPC have scored above the national average in all areas of the American Dental Association's National Certification Examination.

CONSULAR AGENT OF ITALY

Giulio De Petra has been appointed Consular Agent of Italy and has opened an office in the Carmel agency of the Monterey Savings and Loan Association at San Carlos and 6th. A graduate of the University of Naples, he recently retired as chairman of the Italian Language Department at the Defense Language Institute in Monterey.

NEW YOUNG RESIDENTS

The male population was increased last month with the birth of five sons: Mr. and Mrs. Peter Imbach named their son Matthew Paul; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Bohen welcomed Ian Stuart; and Jason Bryan is the new addition to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Soboleski. Mr. and Mrs. William Scollan also had a son, name not given. Mr. and Mrs. Steve Demayo named their son Darren Emiliano and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stalder had a daughter, Alicia Marie.

SURPRISE PARTY

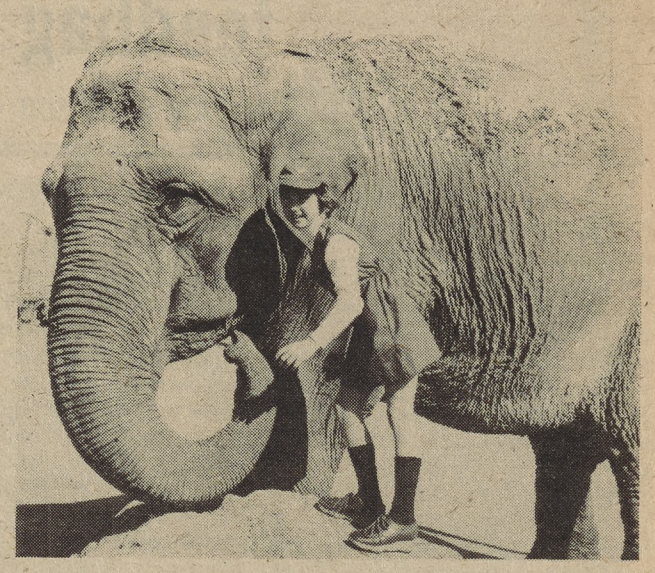
William "Bill" Keene was the recipient of a surprise "50" birthday party, combined with a bon voyage send off. Over 60 guests attended and the center of attention was a cake decorated as a bingo card. The bon voyage was in honor of Bill and Frank Giordano's five week sojurn in Europe.

BOOK BY LOCAL WRITER

"The Self, Sex and Spirit" is the title of a new book compiled by Carol Gliebe from the writings of her late husband, Paul A. Gliebe, a psychiatrist who practiced in Carmel from 1955 until his death in 1972. Dr. Gliebe taught psychiatry at the California School of Medicine in San Francisco until he retired early and moved to Carmel.

DEAN'S LIST

Three Carmel residents attending California Polytechnic State University at San Luis Obispo have made the Dean's List for the summer quarter. They are Carolyn Beach, majoring in liberal studies; Vicki Butler, animal science and John Criddle, mechanical engineering.



BLUEBIRD MEG HUDSON, a third grader at Carmelo School, is shown with Jennie, Marine World elephant. Meg will be selling Bluebird candy this month. One of the varieties is a peanut crunch which passed the taste test with peanut-lovin Jennie.

Campfire candy seasonal sale

Meg Hudson, eight year old Bluebird from Carmel Valley tests the taste of the peanut crunch Camp Fire candy on peanut eating expert, Jennie, one of Marine World's elephants. The nutty confection will be sold along with toffee and mints by the Monterey County Camp Fire Girls Nov. 6-28. The Santa Lucia Council of Camp Fire counts on the annual sale to provide almost half of the funds needed to support a year-round program for Camp Fire Girls ranging in age from six to 17. This year's sale will help expand the camping program at Camp Cheneya in San Benancio Canyon. The girls will be going door-to-door and persons who are not home when they call can phone 372-0700 for delivery. Camp Fire is currently celebrating 66 years of service to American girls. Meg is a third grader at Carmelo School.

How to save gas and money, and get a bonus for doing it.

If you get a pilotless gas range, you can get this spice rack, free.

We're not encouraging you to buy a new gas range. But if you do, we want you to know that many manufacturers are offering pilotless ignition models.

The advantage is easy to see. Forty percent of the gas used by a conventional gas range is just to keep the pilot operating 24 hours a day. But a pilotless range can save that 40%, so you'll save precious gas energy, and money, too.

If you buy a pilotless ignition gas range from a "We Care" dealer between now and November 30, your dealer will hand you a spice rack and set of 12 spices with a retail value of $12.95.

This program is sponsored by the Electric & Gas Industries Association, as part of a campaign to conserve energy, and PG&E is proud to be part of it.

So, if you need a new gas range, don't buy just any model. Get one with a pilotless ignition – it really saves energy.

River School sets music night

The Parent Faculty Club of Carmel River School invites the community to a Family Night of Music on Tuesday, Nov. 16, 1976 from 7:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., in the River School cafeteria.

Parents and children plan to make music together using their hands as percussion instruments, and are asked to bring a "found object" from home, such as a spoon or pot, with which to make additional happy sounds.

Professional musical entertainment will be provided by Bob Reed, with his repetoire of original songs. Harriet Bird will perform from her forthcoming album "T. A. for Tots." Also on hand will be Dexter Johnson, guitarist and guitar builder; Paula Bell, classical and jazz flutist, and Jack Hoss, guitarist and instructor of guitar at Hartnell College. In addition, The Carmel Community Band, under the direction of Henry Avila, will perform.

WASHINGTON — Monterey County is now eligible for annual federal compensation payments of $273,000 as a result of President Ford's signing of the payments in-lieu bill.

Using a complex formula of population and public land, the federal government will give money to counties whose borders encompass tax-exempt, federally-owned acreage.

Monterey County will be eligible for a maximum of $273,109 annually, based on population and the 376,582 federal acres lying inside its borders, according to the Interior Department.

A spokesman for the agency said California counties will be eligible for $8.5 million in compensatory payments each year, but there have been conflicting statements concerning availability of the funds.

Some observers following the issue are guessing money won't be available until September 1977, the month Congress is supposed to approve appropriations for the fiscal 1978 budget.

"Congress must approve the appropriations for fiscal 1978 by Sept. 15," a congressional staff aide said. "I assume money for the in-lieu program will be in that budget."

Benefit sale

The Junior League's Next-to-New Sale will be held Nov. 6-7, at the Monterey County Fairgrounds.

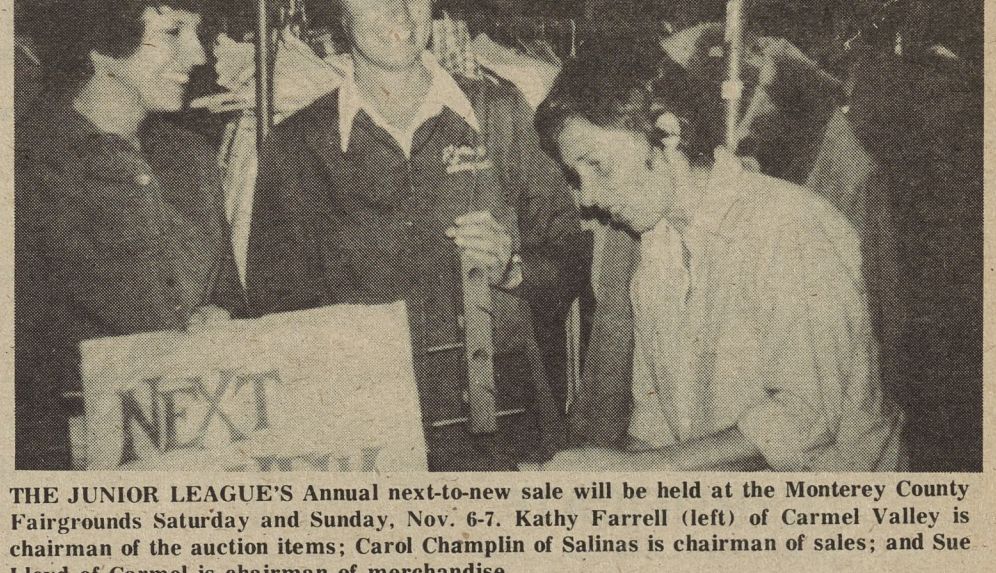
The merchandise will be in the Exhibition Hall and the Agriculture and Horticulture buildings. Hours of the sale will be: Saturday 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on Sunday all items will be half price from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. The sale is open to the public with no admission charge. A luncheon and snack bar will also be provided.

Both new and used merchandise will be featured with departments in jewelry, children's apparel, men's and women's clothing, household appliances, books, furniture, records and stereo tapes, sports equipiment, toys and fresh produce from the Salinas Valley. A boutique and linen department also will be open. The goods are collected by League members in a year long effort which relies heavily on support from cooperating merchants, friends of the League and local craftsmen. All the proceeds from the sale are returned to the community through the Junior League's financial support of projects in the fields of art, education and welfare.

Some of the current projects receiving support are: The Infant Care Center of Seaside, the Funding Information Bureau, the Community Career Resource Center and the Woman in Action Day Care Center in Salinas. A few of the past projects have been the Youth Concerts, Reality House, Children's Theatre, Planned Parenthood of Monterey County, Youth Science Center, T.V. Spot Announcements aimed at preventing drug abuse and Meals on Wheels.

These projects are initiated to educate and train members to meet needs in the community. After the project is well established it is then turned over to the community for support.

This is the 22nd anniversary of the Next-to-New Sale. It has grown large enough to use the Agriculture, Exhibition and Horticulture Buildings at the Fairgrounds.



THE JUNIOR LEAGUE'S Annual next-to-new sale will be held at the Monterey County Fairgrounds Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 6-7. Kathy Farrell (left) of Carmel Valley is chairman of the auction items; Carol Champlin of Salinas is chairman of sales; and Sue Lloyd of Carmel is chairman of merchandise.
